

JOY PITTMAN

Known as an unprecedented force in the field of Human Resources and Business Management, Joy A. Pittman is a Solutionist, Strategist and Thought Partner.

Armed with a Master's degree in Human Resources Management, Bachelor's degree in Economics and certifications as a Senior Human Resources Professional (SPHR, SHRM-SCP) in her current role Joy serves as a trusted advisor and Business Partner to C-Suite and executive level leadership.

Beyond the boardroom, Joy is a keynote speaker, panelist, and facilitator. She is the CEO of J.V.P Legacy Consulting LLC where she fulfills her passion for educating and empowering others by providing effective and efficient strategies to visionaries, entrepreneurs, small business and not-for-profit decision makers.

In addition Joy is the creator of "Still Arriving", her personal content website and the producer and host of "The Joy Ride," her web-series that introduces her audience to thought leaders, content experts, and industry professionals. Through these platforms, Joy aims to foster personal empowerment, multi-generational connection, knowledge sharing and inclusion within the business environment. It is her desire to use her voice, her words and her presence, to challenge societal assumptions regarding power and privilege.

A champion for diversity and the re-centering of underrepresented identities in marginalized communities, Joy serves on the Associate Board of Grace Outreach, a nonprofit organization fostering women's empowerment through higher education and is a member of the New York Urban League of Young Professionals.

Her proven methods of business development, risk avoidance, strategic planning and implementation allow her to facilitate operational efficiency while you to focus on your pursuing your passion.

"Having Joy always brings something different to the table that is relatable to the audience. When speaking to students she impacts their lives in a positive way that they make connections with her. Not only does she make the connection but she also assists them within their networking path, which is important in a student's career development. Joy shows great passion and dedication to the work she is doing and as a speaker she always gives you something to think about when you walk away that motivates you to be better and to do better and that is what I value in Joys presentations."
